

Congress Deadlock Interferes With Vacation Plans of Officials Here

President Disappointed By Failure of Session to Reach End.

With the halt in the adjournment proceedings of Congress last night came another setback in the vacation plans for many in official circles of Washington society who had expected to depart today.

The President instead of being well on his way to the summer White House at Beverly, is still maintaining bachelor quarters at the Executive Mansion. Several Cabinet officers who were to have joined their families at their summer homes or started for extensive trips as in the case of the Secretary of War, Mr. Stimson, who is to take a Western trip, and the Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Fisher, who is to go to Hawaii, are still at their posts.

Any number of homes in Congressional circles which were in readiness for closing today are still open, and trunks and suitcases have in some instances been impatiently unpacked again.

Some of his intimates have laughingly predicted to the President that he will not have to return for the afternoon garden party he is giving September 4, for the International Congress of Chemists, as he may not have opportunity to depart.

MRS. CORNELIUS VANDERBILT, Newport Hostess, Who Gave All Night Entertainment.

Newport Society Still Talking of the Vanderbilt Fete.

Newport society is still talking of the entertainment given at Beaulieu Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, in fact one of the guests avowed that Newport and New York society will still be talking of it when their small children are grown up.

There was no sleep that night for those hidden to the party, the festivities made them forget the need of it. It was sunrise before chauffeurs were awakened from naps behind their steering wheels to start their cars and speed homeward, passing the milkmen on their morning rounds.

"The wonderful beauty of the scene made you forget the time, and with the realization that another business day had started, you regretted the stern realities of life," was the explanation of one of the Perlat dancers.

It was 11 o'clock before the program of amateur dances began. An hour later the curtain went up on "The Merry Countess." At 2 o'clock the 30 guests sat down to supper. At half past 3 o'clock the cotillon opened, Mrs. Vanderbilt leading with Elisha Dyer from one end, and Craig Wadsworth with Mrs. Nicholas Longworth from the other.

During the cotillon about 150 guests went home. The remainder later sat down to breakfast of scrambled eggs, fried chicken, sausages, and apple pie and coffee, as they do at some of the very late parties in New York. Even then some did not go directly home, but prolonged "A Night in the Orient," as the magnificent fete at Beaulieu was called, by a visit to Bailey's Beach. Men and women of Turkey, Persia, India, and Russia, motored to the beach, and soon were spinning in the surf as the morning sun slanted across the sand.

An Englishman whose letters have won him the best that Newport society has to offer observed as he entered his hotel at 8 o'clock:

"From 8 o'clock at night until 3 o'clock in the morning, I have never seen anything like this."

The Swedish Minister and Mme. Ekenberg were dinner hosts last night at the Swimming Club at Bar Harbor, having among their guests the Minister of the Netherlands and Mme.
